TWENTY-SEVEN JUMP THE REPUBLICAN FENCE PUT TARIFF BILL THROUGH

The National House of Representatives by a Vote of 221 to 100 Passed the Democratic Wool Revision Bill—Great Applause Greeted Announcement of Result of Big Fight.

FRANCIS VOTES AGAINST IT

Ohio Congressman From Woolraising District Is Only Democrat to Desert Party Organization—Underwood Given Great Ovation—President Notifies House That Tariff Board Will Not Report on Schedule K Until December.

Washington, June 21.—The house of representatives, by a vote of 221 to 100, passed the Democratic wool revision bill. The announcement of the result was greeted with great applause by the Democrats, who gave Representative Underwood of Alabama, the majority leader, an ovation as he stood in his place to make the final motion following the passage of the bill.

Democratic joy was quickly changed to chagrin as Speaker Clark, taking a document from the table, announced that a message had been received from the president of the United States. In the message the president said that the tariff board had not completed its report on the wool schedule and that for this reason he found it impracticable to comply with the resolution recently passed by the house calling for the data on wool collected by the board.

The president's opportune announcement that the complete wool report of the board would be forwarded to congress in December of this year provoked applause among the Republicans, who feared that the Democrats the house as a whole having in mind assertions repeatedly made by Republicans in debate that it was unwise to attempt a revision of schedule K in advance of a scientific statement as to conditions by the tariff board. Unconsciously the president had placed a joke on the Democrats.

Berger Votes For Bill.
Twenty-seven Republicans jumped the reservation and voted for the Democratic bill. Most of these were insurgents. Representative Berger, the Milwaukee Socialist, stood by the bill, as did Representative Aiken of New York, who is not classified politically. Representative Francis of Ohio, who comes from a big wool district, was the only Democrat to desert his party.

The wool bill goes to the senate with the prestige of having passed the house by a big majority. The house insurgents are of the opinion that their brethren in the senate will assist the Democrats of that body in an effort that is to be made to prevent the measure from passing. Democrats and insurgents appear to be possessed of the idea that President Taft will be placed in an embarrassing position if the bill is put up to him for approval.

SABATH IS WROTHY AT CORONATION FAVORITISM CHAMPIONS AMERICANS

Chicago Representative Takes Up the Cudgel in Defense of the American-born Peeresses While Discussing With Brother Congressman the Coronation. Says It is Disgusting.

STARTS CONGRESSIONAL PROBE

Congressman From Chicago District Wants to Know Why Certain of Uncle Sam's Fair Daughters Have Been Barred From Coronation Ceremonies. While Others Bask in Radiance From Throne—Also Seeks Quotations From Title Market.

Washington, June 21.—Representative A. G. Sabath of Chicago, while discussing the coronation with Representative Thetus Willette Sims of Tennessee, remarked, "This is getting to be positively disgusting." "What's disgusting?" inquired Mr. Sims, in surprise.

"This title business," said Mr. Sabath, "Here a whole lot of American fathers are buying dukes and earls and counts for their daughters and yet only two dozen of these girls are permitted to participate in the coronation. The high cost of titles has become an issue, although I suppose the manufacturing of several varieties of lords by King George may give temporary relief. Something has got to be done about it."

And while Thetus Willette looked on with open mouth and wide, admiring eyes Mr. Sabath sat down at his desk and dashed off a neat little thing in the way of a resolution, directing the secretary of state to make an exhaustive investigation of the traffic in titles and report to the house.

"Be it resolved," says the resolution, which Mr. Sabath dropped in the official basket, "that the secretary of state shall be and hereby is, requested to ascertain through our ambassador to England the names and titles of those who have been excluded from taking part or being present at the coronation ceremony, and the reasons why they have been discriminated against."

Who "Those" Includes.

By "those" Mr. Sabath means American-born peeresses, only two dozen of whom, it is said, are privileged to bask in the light that is reflected from the British throne.

The resolution also directs the secretary of state to find out from United States ambassadors, ministers and consuls "the maiden names and the present titles of those American-born wives of foreign title-bearers such as dukes, counts and so on, the amount each expended by them in securing these titles, the amount of money they are now drawing from the United States for keeping the titles, and the number of them that have been forced to separate or divorce." The number of Americans now in England for the purpose seemingly of obtaining titles and the amount of American money being expended for this purpose are also included in the resolution, to what extent our country is being benefited by this trade and whether or not our earnest, sober-minded and brave women are not frequently subjected to ridicule and to cheap wit by reason of this craze on the part of these trust-made rich, who are suffering from chronic titleitis. The resolution was referred to the committee on foreign relations.

CONGRESSMAN COX

Dayton Publisher Sued For Divorce In Forest City.

Divorce Is Asked By Wife Of Congressman

Cox, congressman from the Dayton district, newspaper publisher, prominent state and national Democratic politician and millionaire, has had a suit for absolute separation secretly pending in Ohio courts since August, 1909. At the time the information was given out that Cox was a traveling salesman, Mr. and Mrs. Cox have been separated for nearly two years.

Mrs. Cox has been living quietly in Cleveland for over a year, establishing the residence necessary for her divorce action. The marital troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Cox have been no secret. The separation came just about the time Cox was elected to congress. Mrs. Cox charges that for a year preceding the separation in April, 1909, Cox scarcely spoke to her, almost completely ignoring her for a month at a time. This humiliation was brought to an end, Mrs. Cox charges, by her husband sending her to another state to visit with a friend. DON'T THROW ANYTHING AWAY SELL IT THROUGH THE HERALD CLASSIFIED

What About It, Anyway? Washington People Are in the Dark On Many Taxation Puzzles

Expression of Opinion on Some of the More Important General Features Is Sought by the Herald From Officials Who Are Face to Face With a Duty Which Presents Many Complications. New Law Not Well Understood.

In order that the residents of Washington, especially that great majority who are interested as taxpayers, may have the benefit of an expression of opinion from those charged with the duty of untangling some of the knots in the present new tax laws, THE HERALD has addressed to Prosecuting Attorney Pope Gregg, County Auditor A. E. Henkle, Mayor Rell G. Allen and City Solicitor Harry M. Rankin, the following communication:

Under the tax rate limit law as it now stands, what, in your opinion, is the maximum rate which the city of Washington may levy for all purposes? Does the levy which will be made by Council for the year 1911, include the amounts necessary for sinking fund and interest purposes? Or is that levy exclusive of these two amounts?

Any expression of opinion on these two questions giving reasons therefore would be very much appreciated by HERALD readers.

Your prompt response will, we feel certain be highly gratifying to the citizens of Washington, the great majority of whom have a deep interest in the matter."

These men, aside from Solicitor Rankin are, under the law, members of the County Tax Budget Commission and as such it is their duty to receive and consider the Tax Budget of each and every taxing district in the county.

The word "Budget" as used in the present tax law means nothing more nor less than a full, yet concise statement of conditions in that particular taxing district from which the "budget" is sent. It should show the exact conditions of all funds and what the needs for the ensuing year are, coupled with a request for a certain levy which the "budget" framers have ascertained to be the correct one to produce for that taxing district, the amount of taxes required to properly administer the public affairs in that district.

Briefly each "budget" should disclose the amount of taxable property in the district the total sum needed, itemized into its several divisions or funds.

These budgets then coming from every taxing district in the county into the hands of the County Budget Commission furnish the basis for that commission's work.

To these amounts necessary in each district for expenses peculiarly its own must be added the levies for county and state purposes and the grand total of the levy must not, under the law, it is contended, exceed 10 mills or one per cent.

Should it develop before the County Budget Commission that the amount recommended by the local authorities in any taxing district, when increased by the state and county levies, will exceed the one per cent. or ten mill limit, then the piling knife must be taken from the table drawer and the cutting down process indulged in regardless of consequences.

And right at this time when it comes is just where confusion is bound to arise. Especially will the conditions become more than embarrassing in the larger municipalities—Washington for instance.

According to the Mayor's Budget the city should have, in order to live on a plane befitting its high rank among the prosperous cities of the state an amount which will require but little short of a five mill levy to produce.

But how about the Sinking Fund and Interest Fund—those funds which are supposed to be kept up to meet pressing demands of the corporation creditors, prominent in the ranks of which are the holders of street paving bonds and all other bonds of the municipality?

If these funds must be included in the city levy then that is a horse of another color and will require a rearrangement of the calculation.

Or suppose that when the County Budget Commission has completed "plussing" the 5 mill levy with county, state and other levies, it is ascertained that Washington residents would be compelled to pay more than one per cent.—a thing which the law designs to guard against, what then?

How much can the County Budget Commission cut the levy in Washington and what is going to be done in case that cut reduces the levy to a figure which will not produce enough to make both ends meet?

Is the county and township to have preference to the limit of the tax rate while the city stands a cut to enable that to occur or are the county and city levies to be cut proportionately in order to bring the total down under the one per cent. limit?

Are the authorities of any taxing district to be allowed to continue to levy taxes when a comfortable balance exists in the treasury of that district and should credit balances in any taxing district be considered in making up the grand total levy?

These are some of the questions which the people of Washington would like very much to be informed about and with the aim and the hope of securing information for its readers, THE HERALD has addressed the queries to those who should be able to give an opinion on the subject.

Fayette Lodge Wins Lawsuit

The Circuit court has announced its decision in the case of Fayette Lodge No. 107, F. and A. M. against P. J. Burke.

Clerk of Courts Hitchcock received this morning from Judge Allread the following announcement of the court's conclusions:

By the terms of the deed from Ely to Rice as we read and construe it, the third story of the building with the easements was excepted from the conveyance and the reversionary title to said third story remained in Ely and passed by his subsequent deed to Fayette lodge.

Decree for plaintiff as in the Common Pleas court.

June 16th, 1911.

This means that the judgment of the Circuit court is the same as that of the Common Pleas and that the Masonic lodge still retains title to the third story of the old building on Main street, which was deeded to them many years ago by Ely, so long as it was used for lodge purposes.

Ely subsequently deeded the lower part of the building to others and P. J. Burke claiming under the grantees of Ely, claimed title "clear up" when the lodge moved to new quarters.

The effect of the court's holding is that the exceptions which Ely incorporated into his deed for the ground floor was broad enough to preclude the passing of any right to his grantees to recover the third story even if the lodge had lost title.

W. B. Rogers represented Burke and Creamer, Creamer and Thompson represented the lodge.

O. W. Stewart Adjudged Insane

O. W. Stewart, formerly of the Rattlesnake neighborhood, who left his family some eighteen months ago, was gone a year, returned and found his wife had secured a divorce and was married, and who was arrested upon a warrant filed by his former wife because he annoyed her, was arraigned before the Probate court in Wilmington a few days ago, adjudged insane and sent to the Athens asylum.

Stewart had threatened to kill his former wife, and annoyed her in many ways until his arrest was made two weeks ago.

INTEREST AND ENTHUSIASM MARK THE OPENING SESSION EPWORTH LEAGUE AT GRACE CHURCH

The Chillicothe District Annual Convention of the Epworth League is now in progress at Grace M. E. church, with excellent attendance and an enthusiasm and interest that augurs well for the success of the convention.

There are forty-six societies in this district, each one made up of young people who are the backbone of one of the most vital organizations in the church, and from each society a splendid representation in earnest conclave for the uplift and development of the work of the league. About fifty delegates came in last night, but each morning train brought reinforcements until there are between 150 and 200 enrolled.

The opening session last night was very largely attended by town people in sympathy with the work as well as delegates, and was altogether a most interesting meeting.

Rev. W. E. Prior, of New Holland, conducted the opening devotional service and Rev. T. W. Locke, pastor of Grace church, gave greetings whose eloquence and cordiality assured the delegates of welcome.

President of the District League Willis O. C. Ellis, of Greenfield, made happy response.

The evening's address was delivered by Rev. Herbert Scott, D. D., district superintendent of the Columbus District. It was a splendid address and under the subject, "Conditions of Efficiency," the speaker made a strong plea for the consecration of mind, body and power to the highest service of life.

Special music was rendered, including organ solos by Miss Minnie Light, violin solo by Mr. James Kneisley and soprano by Miss Ruth Fultz, taking Miss Cockerill's place on the program.

Wednesday morning's session opened at 8:30, with Rev. Mongey, of Waverly, presiding, and the programs all days have been full to overflowing with fine addresses, practical discussions, reports of accomplished work and interspersed with music that contributed to the pleasure of the convention.

OUR RAILROADS.

The people of Washington welcome the knowledge that The Dahl-Millikan Company of this city is persisting in its efforts to secure better railroad depot facilities at this point.

The residents of this city, who have for years furnished a larger amount of business, to each of the four railroads centering here, than any other point on the line exclusive of terminal points, have been shamefully treated so far as accommodations are concerned.

Annoying and inconvenient as this lack of really necessary facilities has been our people have been remarkably patient with conditions.

Expressions of dissatisfaction recently made in resolution form by public gatherings of representative men of the city have been treated with contempt. Conferences have resulted in naught of good for better conditions.

Nearly a year ago the company mentioned inaugurated proceedings against two of the offending roads with a view to securing better freight depot facilities.

This action coming from the quarter which it did—from a heavy shipper, whose property was jeopardized and whose business was handicapped by the outrageous neglect of the carrier companies, caused the Railroad Commission to take up the matter seriously and an order was issued requiring the C. H. & D. and the D. T. & I. railroads to build suitable freight depots. The time within which this work was to be done has expired and neither company has made a move to comply with the order.

The Dahl-Millikan Company, not to be denied in a matter of so great importance, called the attention of the State Railroad Commission to the failure of the companies to comply with the order and asked that some steps be taken to enforce the order made last fall.

The Commission has referred the matter to the attorney general's office and asked that affirmative action be taken to make the railroads "come across".

If the attorney general sustains in this matter the reputation he has made since he has been in office the people of this city will soon know whether or not they have any rights which the railroads are bound to respect and they will also learn whether or not an order of the State Railway Commission is worth any more than waste paper.

It is high time if the people of this city have any rights at all in this matter that those rights be looked after and enforced.

If we can get nothing done at all then we had all better devote our time to more profitable pursuits, take what the railroads graciously grant unto us and be thankful.

The years of blind groping for relief seem now to be nearing an end and the machinery set in motion by a large shipper at this point radiates a faint gleam of hope.

It is, of course, out of the question now to expect any relief as to the passenger station facilities.

The wretched, unsightly, unsatisfactory in every way, totally inadequate made-over make-shift at the B. & O. crossing will, in all probability, stand for years to come as our "Union passenger station".

Perhaps, however, we may get better freight depots than we now have.

This would not be much, but it would help some.

Serious Mistake in Five-Foot Shelf

By C. S. DUKE

A serious mistake was committed by a great part of the American public when it assumed that the five-foot library suggested by ex-President Eliot of Harvard was to become popular. The officials of our public library caught the spirit, with the result that for some weeks the few books through the reading of which the sage of Cambridge declared one might obtain a liberal education were placed on a special shelf accessible to all.

Now that the books have been removed and the reverberation of the last editorial joke cracked on this ill-fated venture of place to approach the matter in a serious mood. For a liberal education in the truest sense of the term is a serious matter and something not to be easily seized upon by the average man of today. It has to do with the matter of character building and culture—a slow and painstaking process, with but a little admixture of the loose enjoyment to be had out of reading the books furnished by the Pullman-car libraries or such as constitute the current literature of today.

Those who earnestly desire what Dr. Eliot had in mind when he offered his list of books will find enough in this five-foot library to be really helpful. It is these who will approach the matter with determination, knowing full well that nothing worth while can be obtained unless the corresponding amount of effort is put into the attempt.

POETRY FOR TODAY

FATE.

"The sky is clouded, the rocks are bare;
The spray of the tempest is white in air;
The winds are out with the waves at play,
And I shall not tempt the sea today.

The trail is narrow, the wood is dim,
The panther clings to the arching limb;
And the lion's whelps are abroad at play,
And I shall not join in the chase to-day.

But the ship sailed safely over the sea,
And the hunters came from the chase in glee;
And the town that was builded upon a rock
Was swallowed up in the earthquake shock.

The Man in Black; Or, the Fatal Bell

I.
With a hoarse hiss of hatred, the tall man in black slunk from the alleyway. Deliberately drawing a murderous-looking knife, he crouched behind a tree and poised for the fatal stroke.

The knife, silly readah, not the tree. "Ha! Ha! Ha!" he laughed. "Ha! Ha! Ha!"

II.
Launcelot Russe and the fair Clarice, all unsuspecting, all wrapped in the glamour of requited love, strolled, waist in arm, along the deserted street. Ah, but was it deserted? Was yonder tree as innocent as it looked? "At last!"

A tall man in black stood in their path, and there was a flash of steel. At the same moment—

III.
The sound of the bell smote the quiet air. It was a supper bell. With a sigh of regret, the obedient girl deserted her book until after supper, when, impatient readah, if you stick around, you may learn what followed.

QUIET THOUGHTS

The deepest of the mysteries is man.

It is through association with others that the human will makes its most wonderful advance in freedom.

Every invention is an instrument through which the human will reaches out toward the mastery of nature.

The emancipation of the individual is always accompanied by a deepening of the content (meaning) of personal life.

Religion, which was once an institution of the state, is becoming more and more the faith and ideal of the individual soul.

Life means growth. The knowledge of yesterday is so much intellectual power, but unless vitalized by new thought it quickly becomes dead.

The forward progress of the world means that in every sphere the sacredness of each human being, the importance of the individual life, is increasingly evident.

Dante's avowed aim was to show the working out of isolated moral laws. Shakespeare's subjects are men and women, each working out the tendencies of his own life; Goethe gives us the developments of the single soul through all the storm and stress of circumstance.

Even in the last century men felt compelled to apologize for writing about themselves; modern literature is autobiographical. Men now realize that the development of a human being is the most interesting thing in the world, and that if they can tell openly and clearly the story of their own lives there are many who will find a deep interest in this.

MAKE THE SUBURBS PRETTY

Unsignificance in Development Usually Due to Greed of Speculators and Promoters.

The unattractiveness of most suburban development lies, first, in the fact that the land is hopelessly subdivided into uniform and monotonous units admitting of little or no variety, excepting by an expenditure of money which the investment does not justify; hence the attempt to obtain variety by stunts and detail, much of which is tawdry. John M. Carrere writes in Country Life in America.

Secondly, the designing of these houses, which has been mostly in the hands of speculators and promoters, has not usually been entrusted to architects of skill, and has not been developed with the idea of elevating and developing public taste, but rather of catering to passing fancies.

Assuming four lots, each 50 feet wide, if, instead of building, as usual, four houses with a narrow frontage and extending back into the lot—all in a row, with a small garden in front, a contracted space separating them, and ugly yards in the back—it were planned to place the two end houses with narrow fronts and extending back, and the two middle houses set back and designed with broad fronts, thus forming a court, a composition would immediately be possible, and a better distribution of light, air and grounds—whether for ornamental or merely back yard purposes—would immediately result without any interference of property lines or of light easements.

CHILLICOTHE, OHIO

THE LID FOR CHILLICOTHE THE MAYOR ISSUES ORDERS OLD TOWN WILL BE DRY

Chillicothe's lid will be on good and tight, front and rear, skylight and basement entrance, windows and all, every Sunday from now hence. This is the edict just issued by the mayor, and he isn't bluffing. It's a bonafide order, and will be treated as such. This will put a stop to local boozers going to Chillicothe on Sundays.

This action of the Chillicothe authorities is brought about by the great amount of trouble experienced on Sundays, due to open saloons. All saloons must throw back their curtains and screens on Sundays, so that anyone can see from the front to the rear door. This will not permit the custom of partitioning off part of the back end with a canvas wall and conducting business as has been the custom with many saloons in Chillicothe.

Chillicothe has become notoriously bad through the open saloon on Sunday, and large numbers of bootleggers from adjoining towns have taken advantage of the opportunity to secure stocks of booze.

Speaking of the action, the Chillicothe Gazette says:

The action of the Mayor, resulted from the fact that the bootleggers have been especially bold in coming here on Sundays, filling up on booze, and making themselves a nuisance on the streets, carrying ill concealed jugs and bottles of booze, and to the additional fact that in one saloon on Sunday night, a near big gun play was pulled off by a lot of negroes who were strangers in the city, and by fights and altercations in other saloons.

Some eight or ten saloons in the city have been closed ever since the wet and dry election and the proprietors say they will remain closed, as they work hard enough for six days in the week, but the remaining thirty-four have kept open despite all orders, and contrary to police instructions, simply because someone whom they thought controlled the mayor told them to go ahead and keep open and it would be all right.

Whether the new edict is going to be enforced impartially or not remains to be seen. If it is it will be the first time in the history of the city, that such has been the case, for generally the saloonists who have been in "with the gang" have kept open. What the rule of action is to be, is yet to be shown this time.

Sabina Bootleggers Asked to Pay Dow Tax

A new turn in the bootlegging case of S. T. Grove and R. E. Lawrence, of Sabina, occurred a few days ago when the State Dairy and Food Commission, through State Auditor Fullington, ordered the two men placed on the tax duplicate for $963 Dow Tax for keeping a place where intoxicating liquors were sold without a license.

It will be remembered that the men were found guilty of bootlegging and the Dow Tax assessment is the result. Through their attorneys W. B. Rogers and Frank A. Chaffin from this city an injunction suit to prohibit the collection of the assessment was filed and a temporary restraining order issued.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY REMEDY

Is particularly recommended for chronic cases of kidney and bladder trouble. It tends to adjust and control the kidney and bladder action and is healing, strengthening and bracing. L. McConnell, 117 Catharna St., Elmira, N. Y., says: "Two bottles did the work most effectively, and proved to me beyond doubt it is the most reliable kidney medicine I had ever taken and it shall always have my endorsement."

Electric Brushes.

The care of the hair is always a subject of interest to women, and in these days when so much false hair is worn the woman's own tresses require extra attention lest they grow sparse and thin from the over heating of the head by the weight of rais and puffs.

Sun baths and the fresh air treatment of gently massaging the scalp with the fingers, by an open window where the wind may penetrate to the roots of the hair, are all good for the locks, as well as regular shampoos.

If a little tonic is needed for the head, however, the wise woman will purchase one of the new tonic sprayers which cost a dollar and may be purchased now in most first-class shops.

They consist of a short comb with hollow teeth and a bulb at the top. A small medicine glass which comes with them measures the amount of hair tonic used and this is then drawn into the bulb and sprayed into the roots of the hair while gently combing it.

The result is far better than that achieved by rubbing the tonic in with the fingers and, what is more, gets the liquid down to the roots in all parts of the scalp.

Electric brushes are now also shown for the hair, while "dry shampoo" powders may be bought at the druggists, which rubbed into the scalp form a fine cleansing lather and then evaporate in a few minutes, and after the hair is brushed it is as clean and glossy as after a regular wet shampoo.

The question as to how often the hair should be washed must be determined by circumstances. The girl whose hair is dry and brittle should not wash hers as often as the girl whose hair is inclined to be oily.

Thousands Return To the Steel Plants Orders for the Future

Pittsburg, June 21.—At least 6,000 steel workers employed in the various plants of the United States Steel corporation and independent concerns in the Pittsburg district are rapidly returning to work after an idleness of several months. General activity prevails at most of the big steel plants, with big orders coming in daily from the east and west. One of the biggest plants to resume full operations is the Martins Ferry plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company at Martins Ferry, O. This plant has orders amounting to several million dollars which will keep the mill running in full for more than a year to come. Already 2,000 men have started to work in this plant.

TWO LITTLE TOTS BITTEN BY MAD DOG EXCITING CHASE

Little Boy, Aged Seven, and Little Girl, Aged Nine, Are Victims of the Rabid Dog, While Many Animals in the Neighborhood Have Been Bitten---Mrs. Maag Shows Great Bravery in Capture of Dog---Ran at Large All Night in Outskirts of City.

Two more children bitten by a mad dog, a half score of dogs known to have been bitten, and a mad dog at large in this city, all of Monday night---this is the latest development in the series of mad dog scares in Washington, in which nearly a dozen persons have been bitten, a score of mad dogs killed, and numbers of unmuzzled canines slain.

The two children bitten this time are those of Luther Maag, living opposite St. Colman's cemetery on Elm street. Robert, aged 7 years and Ruth, aged 9 years are the ones bitten, and will be given the Pasteur treatment immediately to immune them from the rabies.

The dog, a small black and tan animal, showed symptoms of the disease several days ago, the first noticed was that it had killed nearly all the cats about the premises. No attention was given to the dog, however, until it bit the little girl, inflicting two wounds upon her right hand and arm. Before it could be penned up or killed, it dashed upon Robert, snapped his hat from his head, and then inflicted a number of wounds upon his bare foot. The little fellow's screams drew Mr. Maag to his assistance, and a shot gun was procured with which to slay the brute.

When Maag started after the gun the dog started down the road, biting a number of the neighbors' dogs. It was pursued by men and boys until lost along the creek below the fertilizer plant. This was the case in the evening. Next morning the dog showed up at the Maag residence, appearing as if it had spent a night on the road, and when called by the little girl, it ran toward her and sprang upon her. As it did this, Mrs. Maag seized it by the collar and held it struggling at arms length, carrying it to the barn when she threw it into a bin and locked the door.

The dog raved for more than a day, and sometime Monday night passed away. The head was immediately taken to Columbus by Maag, and the case pronounced to be one of rabies. Vaccine arrived Wednesday with which to treat the little boy, and Dr. Brock is administering the treatment. The little girl will commence taking the treatment this week.

Social Circles.

Mrs. Frank L. Rothrock and Mrs. J. Lewis Rothrock were charming hostesses at a June reception of exceptional beauty and attraction Monday afternoon at the home of the former.

All the surroundings were suggestive of the month of roses. The large verandah was wreathed with crimson ramblers and its window boxes with trailing vines and an immense bank of pink lilies embedded in fern, invited the guests to linger before they entered spacious rooms, profusely decorated with asparagus phormosa and bowls of flowers.

Strains of entrancing music filled the air and between one and two hundred women, in stunning summer toilets, found the triple combination of hospitality, music and flowers one to allure.

The hostesses received in the parlor, Mrs. Frank Rothrock wearing a handsome gown of blue voile over silk and Mrs. J. Lewis Rothrock a very becoming costume of lavender voile and Baby Irish.

In the adjoining library, fruit punch was served all afternoon from an asparagus bower, the punch bowl presided over by pretty girls.

A delicious collation was served in the dining room, where the decorations were most elaborate, the tea-table having an artistic arrangement of yellow and white snap dragons and smilax and the serving table and buffet banked in green.

Assisting in the hospitalities were Mesdames J. T. Tuthill, H. C. Anthony, A. M. Bush, Welter Shoop, Misses Marie Hegler, Bess Kerr, Marguerite Brown, Katharine Rothrock and Herbert Rothrock. Messrs. Kneisley and Horstman played a beautiful concert program throughout the afternoon and the Buck florists did the decorating.

Guests from a distance included Mrs. Messenger, of Xenia; Mrs. Goddard, of Wooster; Mrs. S. L. Hamm, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Miss Steinbargar, of Jackson.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

To Avoid Enlarged Pores.

A complaint of the skin and one which women often treat wrongly is that of blackheads. These small tumors are the result of the stoppage of the pores of the skin. They should never be pressed out, as this enlarges the pores and leaves a hole that is quite difficult to contract to its proper size again. The most obstinate will, with patience, yield to treatment, and they should be persistently massaged with a good cream until they are cured, which massage should always take a circular movement. Frequent steaming of the face is another sure method of developing enlarged pores. It is a mistake to steam the face frequently, for it causes the pores to enlarge, and a strong astringent is needed to contract them.

PROMINENTLY TO FRONT G. L. STIMSON ACTIVE IN LOS ANGELES BUSINESS

The Los Angeles Times of Sunday contains an article of interest to Washington, C. H. in regard to the active part played by the G. Lawrence Stimson Company of that city in the building activities which have marked its phenomenal growth.

Mr. G. Lawrence Stimson is the son of Mr. George W. Stimson, formerly of this city and was associated with his father in the real estate business before the organization of the G. Lawrence Stimson Company. The Times says:

STIMSON AN IMPROVER.

To the G. Lawrence Stimson company more than any other company, or to more than all other companies, is the credit given for the many beautiful homes which have been built within the Orange Grove district during the past few years. At the present time that company is building four houses at a total cost of $90,000. One of these houses which will be located at No. 605 S. Orange Grove avenue, is for Samuel B. Welch of the firm of Cunningham, Curtis & Welch of San Francisco. Another will cost $35,000, will have fourteen rooms, and will be occupied by George W. Stimson. It will be located at No. 340 South Orange Grove avenue. The third house will be built at No. 450 South Orange Grove avenue, and will cost $25,000.

At No. 161 Columbia street the same company is building a $7500 home for Edward M. Mackey of Pasadena.

In addition to the beautiful homes the Stimson company is building in the Orange Grove district, it is also building in Oak Knoll, for J. M. Hixon, a beautiful home among the oak trees, of English style, shingled and plastered, which will cost $20,000; for J. M. Porter, No. 510 Prospect Square, an eight-room mission-style villa which will cost $8000; and a $15,000 residence in Altadena for T. P. Phillips. This house will be of Italian style, with tile roof and will be located at New York avenue and Mar Vista street. The same company is building a home in Altadena for Mrs. James L. Nimick, which will cost $7500.

The contract for building the $15,000 club house of the Altadena Country club has been let to Dowell & Loesch of Pasadena. The club house will be built on the club grounds, at the corner of Hill avenue and Mendosa street, overlooking the San Gabriel Valley.

The contract for the building of the new Elk's home on West Colorado street, on the brow of the hill, was let during the week to Matthew Slavin, the contractor, for $51,568.50.

Spelling Simplified.

Prof. Alfred E. Stearns, principal of the Phillips Andover Academy, said at a recent alumni dinner in New York.

"The easiest way in raising funds, as in other things, is the wrong way. I remember a man and his easy spelling rule. In Orange in my childhood I once complained of the difficulties of spelling. I said that 'el' and 'ie' in such words as 'believe' and 'receive' always stumped me.

"Then the man patted me on the head and smiled and said:

"My boy, I will give you an infallible rule for 'el'---a rule that in forty-seven years has never failed me."

"I expressed my delight and waited. The man resumed:

"The rule is simply this: Write your 'i' and 'e' exactly alike and put your dot exactly between them."---Washington Star.

Stop Screaming.

Sweet Singer---"I asked you to show me where I could get something to improve my voice."

Low Comedian---"Well, there is the place across the street," pharmacy. Why, that's a carriage shop."

Low Comedian---"Sure! That's where they sell axle grease."

Toasting Bread.

To toast bread over the gas flame, cover the flame with an old bread pan and place upon it a small round wire coffee holder. This makes a very good rack upon which bread can be quickly toasted.

Matter of Learning.

"It is never too late to learn," quoted the moralizer.

"True," rejoined the demoralizer, "but we usually learn that it's too late."

A Foxy Scheme.

"Ask her to sing."

"Why should I bring on trouble?"

"Ask her to sing, I tell you. When she starts her excuses, express your regrets and make a quick getaway."

Making and Earning Money.

"What is the difference between making money and earning money?" asked the youth.

"Sometimes the difference is a trip to the penitentiary for counterfeiting," answered the home-grown philosopher.

Works Well in Other Cases.

Father---"I am going to have my children learn Esperanto."

Friend---"Is that so? Then I will give you a little advice good for one who wants to learn the new language: go to the country in which the language is spoken."

CHIEF OF POLICE ISSUES FINAL ORDER

In compliance with the wishes of the State Board of Health, and for public safety, all citizens are warned that all dogs, unless muzzled or penned up, will be killed wherever found. No further notice will be given. Muzzle your dog and keep it muzzled until further orders.

WM. DEVANEY,
Chief of Police.

Number of "Rabies" Cases Arouses the State Board Emphatic Order Is Issued

Unless all dogs in the city of Washington are muzzled or penned up until all danger of rabies has died away, drastic action will be taken by the State Board of Health, and every unmuzzled dog in the city killed under orders from that department.

Such is the import of word received from Secretary of the State Board of Health, C. O. Probst, by Dr. L. L. Brock. Dr. Probst says that all dogs must either be muzzled, penned up or killed, and this order will be enforced to the letter.

The State Board has never had so many cases of rabies come under its observation from any other city, even those many times larger than Washington, and the continued outbreak has aroused the Board to action.

All efforts to compel the muzzling of all dogs, by the local authorities has proven of little avail, and hundreds of dogs run the streets daily without a muzzle. It now becomes necessary to muzzle all dogs and keep them muzzled until notified that it is no longer necessary, and all citizens are warned of the consequences to follow if the dogs are not muzzled at once.

The night patrolmen will receive orders to kill all dogs running at large, and if necessary a special man may be employed to slay all dogs without muzzles.

A telegram received from the State Laboratory Wednesday noon stated that the last dog's head examined---the Maag dog---was found to have died from rabies.

FACTS ARE GATHERED AT THE LOCAL POSTOFFICE INTERESTING RESULTS SHOWN

During the month of May when the local postoffice was required to keep a correct account of all mail received and dispatched, the clerks handled 300,000 pieces of mail, and every piece of the outgoing mail was handled on an average of 4.73 times before it was out of the postoffice. The incoming mail received 3.33 handlings.

The total number of pieces of outgoing mail was 120,498, requiring 20,299 minutes to handle. The incoming mail numbered 164,250 pieces, and required 32,397 minutes to handle.

The number of letters and other first class matter sent out was 99,234 pieces, while the number of pieces received was 91,932, indicating that more letters were written than replies received.

City carriers handled 14,903 pieces of outgoing mail, and 76,798 pieces of incoming mail. Of the outgoing mail the average number of pieces handled per minute was 7.06 and 1.49 of the incoming mail. The number of pieces handled per minute (outgoing) by the regular postoffice clerks was 5.93, and 5.06 of the incoming mail.

The rural carriers delivered 8,481 letters and 5,745 post cards, at the same time collecting 4847 letters and 3300 post cards. Carrier No. 1 was first with 1304 letters delivered, and 607 letters received.

With the information collected by the postoffice department should be able to figure very closely on just what is required to bring the department up to a higher degree of efficiency with a reduction in cost.

Tim's First Impression.

Little Tim never enjoyed a glimpse of the country. All his little life had been passed among the crooked courts of a great city. One day the teacher took him out for a jaunt in the woodlands.
"Tim," she said, impressively, as they stood on the crest of a hill, "Isn't that a beautiful sunset! Just look at the great yellow orb surrounded by the white fleecy clouds."
Tim gazed at the beautiful picture for a few moments and then answered:
"Yessum. It looks exactly like a fried egg."

SAYS WOMAN IS STRONGER THAN THE OTHER SEX

One, Member of Female World, Gives Reasons For Belief.

NEW YORK—(Spl.)—"Women are and constitutionally ought to be stronger than men. Man is the weaker vessel," said Prof. John M. Tyler of Amherst college, at a meeting of the American Physical Education association in Cambridge, Mass.

Dr. Glasgow of this city agreed with him when shown his statement. She said:

"Woman's natural heritage of strength as a sex is far beyond man's. Any doctor knows a baby girl is much more likely to live than a baby boy. That's why more boys than girls are born. All through childhood this condition obtains.

"It is only with the approach of maturity that the more healthful training of the boy and his inheritance from generations of healthfully trained fathers gives him the advantage of muscular power over the girl. But all through life woman's physical endurance is greater than man's, and all over the world statistics show that a woman lives longer than a man.

"This is simply because nature intended it that way from the beginning. Biology tells us that for a long time there was only one sex, the female. The male was a mere by-product. The working of the process can be plainly seen now in the lower organisms. The male spider is insignificant in comparison with the female. In most species of fish the female is much larger and better developed than the male.

"It is only in the branches of the animal kingdom where for ages the males have been impelled to fight with each other for the possession of the females that the former have developed muscularly.

"By natural law the female is compelled to suffer infinitely more physical strain during her life than the male. Therefore she is given greater strength to endure.

"But there are special reasons why the modern woman is not in possession of her full birthright of physical strength. The chief of these reasons is the modern man.

"When I say modern I do not include the present generation, for I do think a welcome change has begun. But woman for many centuries has been the victim of man's mistaken ideal of her.

"He liked to think of her as weak and helpless and clinging. He liked to see her sitting demurely by the fire, and shuddered at the idea of exercise in the open air. Moreover, he liked to clothe her in tight, unnatural garments.

"All these artificial restrictions naturally told on woman's health. With increasing knowledge of hygiene the parent and the state are paying more attention to the physical development of our girls. The result is so charming that I think the day of the delicate female is past.

THIS MIGHT BE TRUE

An extremely mismatched young couple sat out a dance together at a party. The party of the male part never seemed to be able to speak to his peppery partner without making a bad break. In desperation he called attention to the hostess—a beautiful girl who had just returned from a European trip.

"What a beautiful complexion Miss Grey has!" he ventured.
"Yes indeed," snorted Miss Brown, who happened to be a deadly enemy of the dear girl referred to. "They say that when she got back from abroad her father was compelled to pay duty on her face as a work of art."

THE MISTAKES OF A NIGHT.

He saw her sitting in the dark corner and knew that his chance had come.
Noiselessly he stole up behind her, and before she was aware of his presence, he had kissed her.
"How dare you!" she shrieked.
"Pardon me," he bluffed, readily, "I thought you were my sister."
She stepped out into the light. "You silly fool!" she giggled, "I am!"
He fainted.

Showed His Authority.

One day last winter, a quorum being lacking in the House, the sergeant-at-arms was sent out to fetch in delinquent members. Among those caught in his net was the Hon. Nicholas Longworth, who was attending an afternoon tea in Connecticut avenue.

Mr. Longworth appeared to be annoyed when the officer of the house informed him that he must "come along."

"Oh, I say," protested Longworth facetiously, "this isn't any way to treat an old friend!"

"Your remark reminds me of the case of the Irish policeman," remarked the sergeant-at-arms, "who, shortly after his appointment to the force, found himself compelled to arrest an old friend who had been dining a bit freely. Resistance to the arrest met with a clubbing.

"Shure, this ain't no way to treat an old friend," said the unfortunate one.

"It ain't that I hate ye Cassidy," said the officer, "but simply that I have th' authority!"—Harper's Weekly.

No Apologies.

Uncle Jerry Peebles who had taken a seat in the smoking car, had filled his pipe and was about to hunt in his coat pocket for a match, when a large man of much equatorial diameter sat down in the vacant seat by his side, complacently crushing him against the side of the car, and almost obliterating him.

Uncle Jerry said nothing, and proceeded in his search for a match. It was hard work to get his hand down between himself and the large man, but he found the pocket at last, and took out three or four matches, all of which went out as he struck them, one after the other, except the last.

"You're welcome," said the portly man, glancing down at him over his shoulder.

"Was that your pocket I had my hand in?"

"Well," said Uncle Jerry, as he lighted his pipe, "all I've (puff) got to say (puff, puff) is that you buy burned poor matches."

Bachelor Days.

Ah, our bachelor days,
And our bachelor ways,
What a charm they possessed for us then!

When we thought every girl
Was a peach or a pearl,
And we trusted the friendships of men.

When we lighted our pipe,
And we dreamed half the night,
And we longed—with the longing of men—

For the ships sent to sea
That for us and for me,
Have never been sighted since then.

From the smoke of my pipe
Comes a face in the night,
And it brings back the parting of ways;

And my heart is aflame,
For I love her the same
As I did in my bachelor days.

Smart Set.

Hospitality.

Southern hospitality is proverbially generous. In "The Old Dominion" Mr. Thomas Nelson Page recounts an instance showing that his hospitality was not always appreciated. A guest asked the loan of a horse to carry him to his next stopping place, a town which lay at a considerable distance. The host accordingly lent him his horse and sent along a negro boy—it was before the war—to bring the horse back.

After several days the boy was still missing, and someone was sent to hunt him up. The messenger found him at last, and demanded why he had not returned with the horse.

"Cause dat gent'man done sell de horse," was the reply.

"Well, why didn't you come back and say so?"

"Hi! He done sell me, too," said the boy.

Burdensome.

Mrs. De Flashleigh (dressing for charity ball)—I suppose I'll have to wear all my diamonds Livingston?

Mr. De Flashleigh—Do as you please, dear; but if they fatigue you, don't expect me to lug them around.

Invisible.

The old broker touched the messenger boy on the shoulder.

"Say sonny," he inquired, "didn't I engage you hours ago to deliver a message and return with the answer?"

"Believe you did, boss," responded the messenger nonchalantly.

"Well, he said he would go like the wind and I haven't seen him since."

"And you won't see him, boss. Did you ever see the wind?"

UNITED STATES IS DOING MUCH IN RE-CLAMATION

Many Gardens of Eden Will Soon Bloom Forth From Desert Lands.

WASHINGTON—(Spl.)—A graphic statement of the vast extent of the government's irrigation projects and the success that attends their operation was made today by C. J. Blanchard, statistician of the reclamation service, who has returned from a tour of inspection.

"At the present time there are 28 projects in various stages of construction," said Blanchard. "The total acreage involved in these projects is 3,200,000 which will provide homes for approximately 320,000 persons on farms, and an equal number in cities, towns, and villages within this area or in the neighborhood thereof, or a total of 640,000 people.

"The total area now under water is 1,000,000 acres, on which have been established approximately 14,000 families and an equal number have taken up their homes in the cities, towns and villages.

"The progress of the engineers has been rapid, notwithstanding isolated location of the principal engineering works from transportation and the many difficulties which have been encountered in the promotion of the work. Up to the present time the canal systems constructed have a total length of 5,621 miles. Many of these canals carry whole rivers. Placed end to end they would reach from New York city to San Francisco and back to New Orleans.

"Tunnels having a total length of 16 miles have been excavated, mostly through mountains. The excavation of rock and earth amount to the enormous total of 65,000,000 cubic yards, or more than one-third of the yardage required for the Panama canal.

"Owing to the location of some of the principal works in regions heretofore inaccessible, the reclamation service has been compelled to construct 575 miles of wagon roads, some of which are in the most rugged country on this continent.

"The service has in operation 1,508 miles of telephones, 275 miles of transmission lines, and is furnishing power and light for municipal and manufacturing uses to seven cities and towns from its own power plants.

"The investment of the government in the projects now under construction is $62,208,000. The total computed cost of these projects when completed is $145,000,000. The allotment to cover the work during the present fiscal year is $10,000,000. This does not include the issue of $20,000,000 in certificates, which will be available when required.

"Using as a basis the present value per acre of irrigated land in the projects of the government with sufficient water right, it is conservative to state that the total value of all the lands under these projects when irrigated will exceed $320,000,000.

"These lands are virtually mortgaged to the government to repay the cost of the irrigation systems, which is computed at $145,000,000.

"The gross value of crops produced in 1910 on lands which were supplied by the government irrigation systems approximated $15,000,000. The value of the improvements of the settlers, including buildings, fences, etc., is $7,500,000.

"The value of live stock is $2,400,000. The total increase in the values including lands, implements, buildings, live stock, etc., as a result of providing irrigation for these farms, is not less than $60,000,000. Comparing the former selling prices of the other lands which are included in the government projects but not yet irrigated, with the prices at which they are now being sold, an additional increase in values of $30,000,000 is shown as a result of this development.

"There is no more hopeful sign in connection with the home-building work of the government than the surprising large number of settlers who have left the cities and towns to take up their homes in the desert. The reports from the field are gratifying for the reason that a very small percentage of failures is shown.

"Information from all sources shows no diminution in the movement of the people to the west. Railroads report that the travel has been above the average, with a promise of great increase in the fall.

"At present the government farms are limited to five projects, and includes only 366 farm units. The field forces are pushing forward the work of extension of canals in order to make ready for settlers a large area of

A Want Ad Is Often The First Link In a Chain of Consequences

It initiates something of far-reaching importance to you. You meet someone with whom you will do business for years—or you buy or sell property that changes the currents of our daily affairs. Many a want ad is of but transient importance, of course. But others influence your life for years and years.

new lands, some of which will probably be opened in the fall.

"The question 'Can a merchant, mechanic, lawyer, doctor, or other professional man succeed as a farmer in the west?' has always been answered: Given good health, a small capital to make a start, and a willingness to work, and the answer in most cases is 'Yes.'"

Poor Mary.

Mary had a little shape,
Correct from tip to toe;
And everywhere that Fashion went,
That shape was sure to go.

—Judge.

The Latest.

"You claim to be a sailor?" sniffed the doubtful housewife.
"Yes, mum," hastened Hornpipe Harry, as he took a reef in his trousers.
"But you don't make use of that nautical expression, 'Shiver my timbers!'"
"Oh, no, mum, I say 'Shiver my gasbag' or 'Shiver me wings.' I'm an airship sailor, mum."

Good Name.

"Fine scenery here," commented the guest at the mountain hotel.
"What do you call that great rock over there?"
"Castro," laughed the landlord.
"That's a queer name. And why do you call it Castro?"
"Because it is such a big bluff."

Long-Felt Want.

The count had been rejected.
"You may refuse me now," he hissed, "but I shall make myself felt."
The millionaire laughed.
"Make yourself felt, count?" he chuckled. "Why, in that case you might accept you. You'd make a good weather strip."

Slight Variation.

Mrs. A—When you were first married you used to call your husband "dear."
Mrs. Z—Yes, and now I call him "d-e-e-r."

Mrs. A—Gracious, and why?

Mrs. Z—Because he goes to so many stag parties.

Shakespearean Ball. Elizabethian Days Are Clearly Recalled

Spectacle of Bejeweled Women Masked and Costumed Will Live Through History—Outpageant All Pageants of Present Day and Revived the Splendors of Ye Olden Time.

DANCE BEFORE MOCK COURT

King George and Queen Mary Did Not Attend Function at Albert Hall, Transformed For Occasion Into Beautiful Italian Garden—English Monarch Gives Special Audience to John Hays Hammond, Uncle Sam's Representative at Coronation.

London, June 21.—With the famous masked balls of earlier days, the Shakespeare ball will live through history. It outpageanted all pageants of the present age and revived the splendor of Tudor England. At the ball there were no tawdry stage costumes, but real silk brocades, real gold and silver embroidery, real furs, real lace—the finest of all periods—setting off the beauty of some of the fairest women of English and American birth.

The Albert hall was transformed into a wonderful Italian garden. The king and queen did not attend, however, almost every member of the royal family was present.

The dancing began at 10:30 and continued until midnight, when the floor was cleared for the processional entrance of the Elizabethan court. All members were the descendants of the historical characters represented. The court ranged itself picturesquely on the special platform upon which Elizabeth was enthroned. Then began a series of quadrilles of mailed knights and ladies and a procession of dancers before the throne. The music for the quadrilles was specially arranged by Emerson Whithorne, the American, and was chosen from the music of the Elizabethan period, the spirit of which was admirably preserved. Words can not describe the beautiful kaleidoscopic maze of the dancers or the gorgeous effect of the costumes in the procession.

Wear Priceless Heirlooms.

Priceless heirlooms of jewelry glittered in the hair and upon the bosoms and on the stomachs of the most beautiful women in the world. It was an enchanting picture upon a vast scale of magnificence. No modern evening dress appeared to mar the beauty of the scene. It was obligatory upon every one of the 3,000 to 4,000 guests that they appear in Tudor or Shakespearean costume, covering almost all of the periods of the world's history.

Among the Americans was Mrs. J.

S. Stickney, who appeared as Katharine Aragon. In the quadrille arranged by the Duchess of Somerset she wore a brocaded satin gown, a diamond tiara and a stomacher of ornaments. The Countess of Essex, who was Adele Grant of New York, impersonated the Countess of Essex of Elizabethan times. The Duchess of Manchester, who was Miss Zimmerman of Ohio, appeared in a leaf green brocade with a gold tissue petticoat and a cap of diamonds and pearls, with a chain pendant of emeralds.

The banquet in Buckingham palace was a scene of imperial grandeur so far as the assembly of royal and eminent personages, the setting of costly magnificence and beautiful decorations could combine to make it.

Monarchs Have Busy Day

The king and queen entertained the visitors foreign and English royalties, special ambassadors, regular ambassadors and ministers, the officers of state and the household, the members of the cabinet and former cabinet members, the heads of the church and judiciary and of the army and navy.

The functions were only a part of the day's events. In the morning the king received most of the foreign envoys formally. In the afternoon, with the queen, he went through a rehearsal of the coronation at the Abbey, and later gave a special audience to John Hays Hammond, who presented a letter from President Taft. The king also received the Chinese, Japanese, Persian and Turkish envoys, who presented decorations from their sovereigns.

"Dictagraph Tune" Played in Deigle Case Inventor to Testify

Columbus, O., June 21.—The dictagraph's inventor, R. M. Turner of New York, is coming here to testify in the trial of Rodney J. Diegel, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, indicted for acting as go-between in the bribery of state senators. The state's chief evidence rests upon the testimony of detectives and conversations taken down at the Chittenden hotel by use of the dictagraph. Prosecutor Turner sent for the inventor of the device.

Before Judge Kinkead 10 prospective jurors were secured to try Diegel. Neither the state nor the defense exercised any of its peremptory challenges. Attorney General Hogan asked each talesman as to prejudice against detectives and whether they were acquainted with the Burns operatives or the aliases that are ascribed to them by detectives employed by indicted legislators.

SURGEONS USE MAN'S RIB TO MEND A SKULL

Unique Operation Relieves Patient of Paroxysms—On Road to Recovery

ST. LOUIS—(Spl.)—George Williams, a City Hospital patient, put his hand to the back of his head and felt his sixth rib with it today and said he was feeling fine. He is the only man in the city who has a rib in his head, surgeons at the hospital say. So far as known, it is the only similar case in the world.

Williams, whose home is in New Orleans, was admitted as a patient March 25. A year and a half before this he had been struck on the head with a club, and in order to save his life a portion of the parietal bone at the back of the skull was removed. The pressure of the scalp on the unprotected membrane beneath it caused an irritation of the brain cells and the effect was that Williams became subject to frequent paroxysms.

No one there will tell the name of the surgeon who conceived the idea of putting one of Williams' ribs where the back of his skull ought to be. It is said he is a member of the visiting staff and a strong believer in medical ethics.
